

It's Up to the Public

If the housewives of Edmonton want the iniquitous six-day milk delivery system brought to an end, they will go down to the court house in force on August 2 and make their demands plainly known to the Board of Public Utilities Commission.

The need for this vociferous expression of public opinion is all the more necessary because both the milk deliverymen and the dairy operators have decided they will be "neutral" when the six-day system comes up for review.

With the deliverymen and the operators neutral, the case will be decided inevitably on the public will.

The Board is entitled to know just what that public will wants done.

Hotel Extension Unduly Delayed

Announcement that work on the $4,000,000 extension to the Macdonald hotel will not begin until next spring seems to indicate a delay that is hardly justified.

Canadian National Railway officials say that the plans are not yet completed and may not be completed until Christmas or even April.

That must strike the average citizen as an extraordinary state of affairs since it is common knowledge that the railway company has been contemplating an addition to its hotel premises here for years and that active negotiations towards an immediate extension have been going on for more than a year.

Surely the CNR must have had a pretty good idea, at least a year ago, whether or not it was going to build an addition to the Macdonald.

Why then this belated attention to working plans?

Some Effrontery From Regina

The impassioned appeal of Regina's exhibition head to Edmonton audiences to "wake up and applaud" strikes us as a little out of place.

It was nice of the Regina official to take such an interest in our behavior as to express exasperation over the alleged fact that Edmonton audiences at the exhibition "don't clap, but just sit there."

We are not in the habit of taking such a warm interest in the feelings of the exhibition performers who like us say like enthusiasm and require audience reaction to "peep them up."

But really Edmonton people do not require the condescension of the Regina exhibition president to teach them good manners or that performers like applause.

There is a little too much patronage in this scolding which perhaps transcends the limits of good taste.

Edmonton audiences have shown on many occasions that they can applaud with the best of them. But they have also shown that they will not applaud unless there is something worth applauding. Witness the unfortunate parade last Thursday.

We do not require the advice of fair mugs from Regina who perhaps forgot that if Edmonton people failed to applaud it is just possible that failure was based on a sense of discrimination rather than on mere apathy.

Some Progress Is Not Worth While

People who are old-fashioned or perhaps merely wise will not greet with any marked enthusiasm the announcement that plans are being made for an expedition to the moon.

Exploration on the moon and among other planets will add immeasurably to human knowledge.

But the acquisition of that knowledge worth while when ready access to the moon will almost certainly mean an international struggle for its control because whoever controls the moon, from a military point of view, will undoubtedly control the world?

This particular phase of man's intellectual enlargement will mean an inevitable enlargement of his military activities.

Can the world afford it?

Perhaps the most adventurous voyagers had best just stay at home and vacation at the nearest beach.

Never Go Along, Brother, To Help Buy a Lady's Hat

The other day I happened to be in the millinery section of a certain department store for a purpose which none of your readers would understand.

And while I strolled nonchalantly among the tiers and rows of hats, I heard the voice of the Little Woman, the one at the counter.

"The young man cleared his throat, raised his eyebrows and said, 'I am not a woman, but I am a man.'

"'Now isn't that sweet air,' she gushed. 'The colors are so sweet, I think this is the sweetest number we have in the place.'

"'It's not sweet, it's sweet,' I said, and I went on to buy the hat.

The young man cleared his throat again and said, 'I am not a woman, but I am a man.'

"'Now isn't that sweet air,' she gushed. 'The colors are so sweet, I think this is the sweetest number we have in the place.'

"'It's not sweet, it's sweet,' I said again, and I went on to buy the hat.

British Blue Law Battle Blossoms

New Organization Wants Free Continental Sunday

By Alan Harvey

LONDON, July 21.—(CP)—With the usual vigorous sound effects on both sides, Britain's almost-annual battle for Sunday freedom is on again—in earnest.

Supporters of a "do as you please" Sunday have reformed their ranks for another assault on the Lord's Day Observance Society, which has existed ever since laws "since the early 19th century."

"It's an urgent matter of freedom," says 26-year-old John Parker, Labour Member of Parliament for Dagenham, Essex, and a leader of Britain's newly-formed Brighter Sunday Association.

"We want to do away with any discrimination of God's hallowed day," retorts H. J. Martin, who has spearheaded the Observance Society's fight against Sunday observance.

Parker's group will prepare a new private members' bill for submission to the House of Commons. It does not expect that the controversial Sunday issue will reach the parliamentary battleground until after the next election.

BILL'S OBJECTIVE

One of the bill's objectives would be to end the Sunday closing laws which Parker claims are created by Lord's Day Observance Acts of 1625, 1671 and 1780.

These laws, he claims, give an entertainer's right to sing on Sunday may hinge on his costume. If he wears a business suit, it's all right; if he wears a tuxedo or other embellishment, his performance may be interpreted as an "act" and thus illegal.

Two of every three persons in England and Wales now attend Sunday movies but Sunday plays are largely taboo. Seven

"We just want Sunday activities to be a matter of choice. Sunday is the only day a man has to himself. He finds he can do nothing and go nowhere."

Replies Martin

The Brighter Sunday people are closer to home. My society has been going for 118 years. Why should I worry about them?

Parker, meanwhile, has other worries. His committee is to conduct between chapters of a book he is writing on Newfoundland.

He became interested in the subject in 1945. During his term as editor in 1945 and made a three-week fact-finding tour of the new Canadian province last September.

INDIAN GIFT BACKFIRES

OWEN SOUND, Ont., July 21.—(CP)—Viscount Alexander apparently doesn't believe in Indian-giving.

During a recent visit Tuesday, the governor-general was presented with a key to the city by Mayor Ed Sargent. Mayor Sargent had it in a "honored place" in Ottawa's Rideau Hall.

The 20-pound, sword-long key was used to open the visiting dignitaries and is retrieved and put away for the next occasion.

No further details were given.

The Times-Herald was published by the late Mrs. Elizanne M. Clegg Patterson under her name.

She died June 24, 1948.

Mrs. Patterson was editor of seven of its executives.

William F. Shewell, general manager, Frank W. Wallop, advertising manager; Edmund J. Jones, advertising director; Michael W. Flynn, supervising managing editor; H. J. Robinson, circulation director; J. P. King, business manager; and Mason N. Peeler, managing editor. They were given equal shares.

CHICAGO, July 21.—(AP)—Purchase of the Washington

Times-Herald by the Chicago Tribune was announced last night by the Tribune's editor and publisher, Col. Robert

R. McCormick.

McCormick's announcement said:

"The Chicago Tribune bought the Washington Times Herald today. The present management will remain in charge."

No further details were given.

The Times-Herald was published by the late Mrs. Elizanne M. Clegg Patterson under her name.

She died June 24, 1948.

Mrs. Patterson became editor of the paper when she was 21 years old.

She became interested in the subject in 1945 and made a three-week fact-finding tour of the new Canadian province last September.

Violence Flares In Hawaii Strike

Twenty-Nine Arrested As Strikers Raid Stevedores

HONOLULU, T.H., July 21.—(UPI)—Twenty-nine pickets were held without bail today in connection with a bloody battle resulting from a raid of 200 striking CIO longshoremen on the headquarters of a non-union stevedoring company.

The strikers were held while police investigated the battle in which fist, knives, clubs and bows and arrows were used. It was the first violence in the 82-day-old longshoremen's strike.

Four men went to the hospital and 19 others were injured, including three policemen.

KNIFE IN BACK

Doctors reported that Joseph Lenn, 36, who was stabbed in the back, was in critical condition.

A union spokesman reported that circuit judge John Parks had ordered police chief Dan Lai to produce the 29 pickets in court this morning and to release those who should be released.

Meantime, a tense but ominous quiet hung over the Honolulu waterfront.

The strikers swarmed over the gates into the yard of the Hawaiian Stevedores, Ltd., and attacked non-union stevedores as they climbed aboard buses to take them to a pier to unload the freighter Steel Five.

Five policemen tried to halt the battle but were forced to summon reinforcements. The violence last night was the second.

CANT CONTROL MEN

Henri Schmidt, officer of the striking International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said the union "can't control the men in the event of a strike."

For thirty sports fans a 10-gallon soft drink dispenser has been introduced in Chicago.

men's emotions and tempers, especially when they're strained to the breaking point."

"The blame should be placed with the longshoremen—on the shoulders of those who have been demanding extermination of the union since the strike started," Schmidt said.

The Honolulu Star Bulletin encouraged the strikers to settle but asked swift legal action to punish the rioters.

The Honolulu Advertiser advised that the strike was started by strikers who wanted to demand more and the public to remember it "for it will not be long before the longshore leaders will be attempting to present their sisters in the white mambas of martyrs."

SPECIAL SESSION

Gov. Ingram Stastna has called for a special session next Tuesday to consider legislation "deemed necessary to meet the present waterfront emergency and such other legislation as may be deemed in the public interest."

Among the bills to be considered is one empowering the governor to seize Hawaii's docks for six months in the event of a strike.

Gordon, who has been charged with 16 counts, and found he was wanted on both coasts of the United States.

Gordon, however, was expected to serve his term of offenses in Toronto before other authorities could reach him.

Gordon's pleas were entered by Guhr when he appeared in Toronto to face seven charges of house-breaking, one of forgery, one of auto theft and one of uttering a forged cheque.

He was charged the P.M.T. was closing in on him in Washington where he ran a 30-thousand dollar restaurant and boat yard business. Guhr headed back to Toronto. He was arrested and held over this month when he tried to cash a six thousand dollar cheque.

LONG CAREER

Toronto police traced Guhr's career of crime from their records. Starting in 1941 in the Pacific Northwest, he allegedly committed several offenses prior to his house-breaking, when he was released in Oregon on parole in 1945. The Oregon State Board of Parole announced in 1946 the parole was cancelled.

The sheriff of King County, Washington, wanted Guhr next for forgery. But he next appeared in California, where he allegedly was held in jail.

Next stop was New York State, police records showed. Nassau County police wanted Guhr in connection with break ins into six well-to-do people in April, 1947.

FBI IN HUNT

The FBI entered the picture with a warrant issued in Rochester, New York. Police records showed Guhr was suspected of transporting a stolen car across state lines. He was wanted by the United States marshal in Rochester for jumping bail.

Guhr was forced then to move

Church May Change Name

MILAN, Italy, July 21.—(UPI)—The Church of England in Canada is thinking of changing its name. The subject will come up at the Church's general synod here Sept. 4-12.

Church spokesmen explained that the Church of England in Canada has been an autonomous entity for 100 years and that the present name, they said, leads many to think it still is tied to the Church of England in Great Britain.

Several new names already have been suggested, among them the Episcopal Church of Canada, the Canadian Church and the Anglican Church of Canada.

Let's spin the sports sphere. Johnny Denchuk, who apprentices in the hairdressing Mike Cutcher's regime, has crashed the razzlin' act around Los Angeles. Doing right good, too . . . ## Horatio Alger in Reverse

Morton Cooper, ex-World Series stickout with St. Louis Cardinals, can't get 'em out in Saskatchewan semi-pro circles. Latest to hang it on "Big Coop" was Delisle, including the Bentley brothers, Max and Doug, Dick Butler and a lot of other hockey players, mostly. ## Canadians' Junior Reign Appears Over Canadians' reign as city junior baseball kings has all but ended.

Last night at Clarke Stadium the Redlegs, city champions for the last three years, harddriving, were left with the scariest of mathematical chances to make the playoffs as C.N.R. squashed them 6-2.

Right now Canadians are dead last in the five-team field, trailing E.A.C. by a full game. Four teams qualify for the playoffs.

IT'S COLD OUT THERE

A win for fourth-place E.A.C. to move into second place in the Canadians in their last game Saturday would leave Gordon Moore's up red team out in the cold for keeps.

A perfect job of relief pitching by Jim McCallum, B.C. Bear, started Canadians last night.

Bacon came along with two out in the Canadian half of the fifth inning. C.N.R. were leading 3-2, but Canadians had just two others home. Martin, for two runs and three hits in the frame. And the tying run was perched at second base.

The rugged southpaw from Vincennes, the state's winningest and most durable man in the recent tournaments, You can't get any better than that.

Confederate Bob Nelson, for C.N.R., prudged up the score to 5-2. The Bear, though, hit a pair of one-base bloopers for the visitors' ten championships, to be held here July 25-30.

Two stars, Glen Bassett and Jack Shoemaker, seeded one and two respectively at University of California, head the invading United States group.

Don Currier, Lorne Main and Walt Stubbings, Vancouver, also may take part in the tourney.

U.S. Net Stars Invade Vancouver

VANCOUVER July 21—C.P.L. manager A. McGillis, manager of Dominion champion Calgary Stampeders, Football club, said he had no objection to anything about an exhibition football game against Ottawa Rough Riders in the Big Four on Aug. 1.

Mr. McGillis said the first he had heard about it was a report from Ottawa earlier this month. He said Rough Rider officials were negotiating with Stamps for an exhibition game in Ottawa's Frankel Park before the Canadian football season opens there Aug. 22.

A win for fourth-place E.A.C. to move into second place in the Canadians in their last game Saturday would leave Gordon Moore's up red team out in the cold for keeps.

At the end of a day of exciting open tournaments from South Africa, Canada was in with a disappointing 72.

Legion Counting On Husky Frew

One of the reasons why Edmonton North Side Legion is perched on its usual throne as Kings of Alberta soccer this year is Jim Frew.

Edmonton 'born and bred' Frew is playing his third season with the perennial provincial champs. But this year he is turning in by far his best showing to date.

A husky chap carrying 180 pounds on his 6 foot frame, Frew has turned in some sound work from the right fullback slot as Legion bowled over Calgary, Callies, Amherst, Oliver and other clubs this semester.

TWO GAME SERIES

Manager Martin Collingwood will be counting on the big fella when the club locks horns with the visiting Stamps in Dominion Football Association playdown action in the Hub City at the weekend. Two-game series starts Saturday and Monday, with the winner taking on Vancouver on the Dominion semi-final here.

"We'll take care of what we can get a full team," says Collingwood, "and we'll take care of the rest."

As things stand last night Jimmy Anderson, all-star half, is the only doubtful starter. But Collingwood is hopeful of Anderson making the grade.

Via way of tuning up for the series, Legion will work out at Clarke Stadium at 6 o'clock tonight. Last minute details will be given at the meeting following the practice.

Players making the jump are Ron Giles, Fred Harry Skinner, George Ross, Dave Pearce, Andrew Gullings, George Davidson, Ted Lewis, Dunc Campbell, Amie Monte and George Burton.

Jim Miller, Legion's secretary, trainer Jim Miller and Collingwood also will make the trip.

Very little is known of the Ahepa, but it is said that there are a number of Indians in the vicinity, and a measure of the Saskatchewan All-Star team which fell before the touring Newcastle United earlier in the season.
